Rich, buttery Chardonnay often performs better in its own specific type of glassware, which is why Ahmet Savci, food and beverage manager of Kaya Palazzo Resort & Residences Le Chic Bodrum in Bodrum, Turkey, prefers the Riedel Extreme Oaked Chardonnay glass. "This glass is perfect to reveal the intensity of full-bodied white wines, including the wine's multi-layered aromas," he says. "It has a diamond shape that works beautifully for big and bold New World wines, as the extreme angles offer more space to develop aromas." A wide bowl on this glass prevents big wines from becoming overly concentrated, while still giving the wine plenty of space to breathe. As an added bonus, these glasses are dishwasher-safe and come in packs of two.
